"... Our castle's strength
Will Laugh a siege to scorn."
—Macbeth.

Warwick Castle. Warwick Castle, standing on a mound above the Avon, is a fine example of the fortified mansion. Ethelfleda, King Alfred's daughter, is believed to have founded it in 915. Guy's Tower and Cæsar's Tower flank the gateway (all three dating from the 14th century), and there are two unfinished towers—the Bear and the Clarence.
